Added Value for Healthcare Clients

AKF Group has entered into a strategic partnership with TSIG Consulting Inc., a nationally recognized firm that provides regulatory accreditation services to healthcare organizations.

"This is another important step in AKF's commitment to continually strengthen our services and offer the highest level of information to our clients," states Paul Bello, AKF's Managing Partner. "By combining AKF's expertise in engineering, commissioning, testing, technology, sustainable design and lighting design with TSIG's expertise in accreditation, survey preparation and regulatory affairs, we bring greater value to our respective clients to help improve healthcare quality of service and provide for successful compliance results."

Dino DeFeo, PE, LEED AP, Partner and a leader in AKF's Healthcare Studio, acknowledges that healthcare clients fully understand the need for perfecting and maintaining the Environment of Care process within their organizations. He notes that "TSIG's services and solutions are tailored to promote life-safety for all building occupants, and to provide technical programs and services to document, manage and maintain a facility's infrastructure. The union of our two highly skilled practices will allow us to share resources and provide complementary services to our respective clients in all office locations and for all healthcare projects."
